

DIVORCE

1973 Ongoing

George Clooney cuts his own hair. That's what he says on 60 Minutes. And there are few who don't try it, that plunge with the scissors themselves. My venture down the self styling road is in 5th grade. I want a bob, not ponytails. And Snip snip, I've got a crooked bob, ponytails in the bathroom wastebasket. Who finds them, the ponytails, the Whig, aka LSD, mother. And she whigs out . . . As per her name. JPD, father just gathers the remnants and archives the cut hair. Two different responses, no wonder they're divorced. I just wish in '72 I had George Clooney's hair cutting machine, The Flobee, then there'd not have been all the kerfuffle . . . But there also would not have been an archive.