

TV DIARY
1990 Ongoing

I haven't gone to the sports bar extreme, but I watch TV all the time, day and night, have done so my whole life. TV DIARY is a collection of all the TV Guides I have read, reflecting what I have watched from the early 90s . . . And highlighting what I watched, and continually watch . . . It's something that I do in a repetitive sense and a Warholian gesture of my lifestyle, creating something out of nothing, that is just a plain silly indulgence, but also truly a groovy, groovy relic of that record, culturally and otherwise. Sometimes I'm better at watching TV than I am at highlighting what I watch, oh well, that goes with the territory. (Seinfeld, The Cigar Store Indian, Season 5, Episode 10, 1993).